

An aerial photograph of a coastal town in Costa Rica. The town is built on a hillside covered in dense green tropical forest. Several houses with red-tiled roofs are visible, scattered across the slope. At the top of the hill, a tall communication tower stands out against the sky. To the left, a large marina with many boats is situated on the turquoise ocean. The coastline curves along the right side of the image, with white sandy beaches and waves breaking. In the background, more land and distant mountains are visible under a partly cloudy sky.
