Amazing Property with New luxury container home in it is an amazing halfway point for those looking for an off-the-grid feel, but still wanting the amenities of a contemporary home. The property features custom cabinets though, as well as granite countertops, high-end fixtures, and plenty of storage space. The distribution itself is one full bedroom and bathroom, a nice kitchen, and a living room area. The home also features an enclosed screened deck perfect for enjoying the amazing views and the daily sunsets.

Given its structure of 2 containers stacked on top of each other, the home is well insulated with a double-paned glass throughout its environs, avoiding too much temperature and outside noise.
